

Scope

So, from Why to What!

What they say they need:

- An Online Cookbook.
- To be able to find, share, edit and delete recipes.
- To have the ability to search through the recipes.
- Create a website that displays nicely, the requirements above.

What they really need:

- A fully editable/user-friendly website.
- It has to have the functionality to find and manipulate recipes.
- Create an easy, manageable database structure that handles the data inserted.
- An appealing website that is clean bright and user-friendly.

What they don't know they need:

- A logical way to store their user's data.
- A login, sign-up/registration area for added security of their user's data.

Functions and Content.

E.g. A user wants to quickly search through the recipes for a well-known ingredient, which may cause an allergic reaction in some people. So, we create a search area to accommodate their needs.

Functional Vs Content requirements
